Pageant Categories & Details:

PERSONAL INTRODUCTION: To begin the pageant contestants will introduce themselves to the judges and audience with a short personal introduction statement. They will be scored on their energy, confidence, and clear speaking skills. This includes their posture, volume, speed, and diction while delivering their introduction.

STAGE MODELING: The on-stage pageant will include a modeling portion. Contestants will practice the pattern for their modeling at the informational meeting Sunday, October 8th. Contestants will model while the emcee reads a biography of information about them. Participants will be scored on their poise, presentation, and confidence. This includes eye contact, facial expressions, carriage of the head and chin, and pace and flow of walking. They will also be scored on their appearance and grooming, that their outfit is age appropriate and neatly presented.

ON STAGE QUESTION: Following the modeling each contestant will draw a question at random to answer live on stage. Contestants will know all the questions in advance but will not know which question they will draw on stage. These will be fun simple to answer questions appropriate to the age of the contestants. Scoring will be based on their confidence to answer the question.

JUDGING: The judges will be outside individuals with experience in fields relating to pageants and public appearance. Scores will be calculated and verified by a third party not associated with organizing or judging the pageant.

EXPECTATIONS: Little Miss & Little Mr. Maple Leaf will be required to attend festival events throughout the week of the Maple Leaf Festival. The royalty and their guardians are expected to maintain a positive representation of the community and festival.
